HOW TO ADD MODULES IN THE DIGICATION E-PORTFOLIO TOOL

Overview

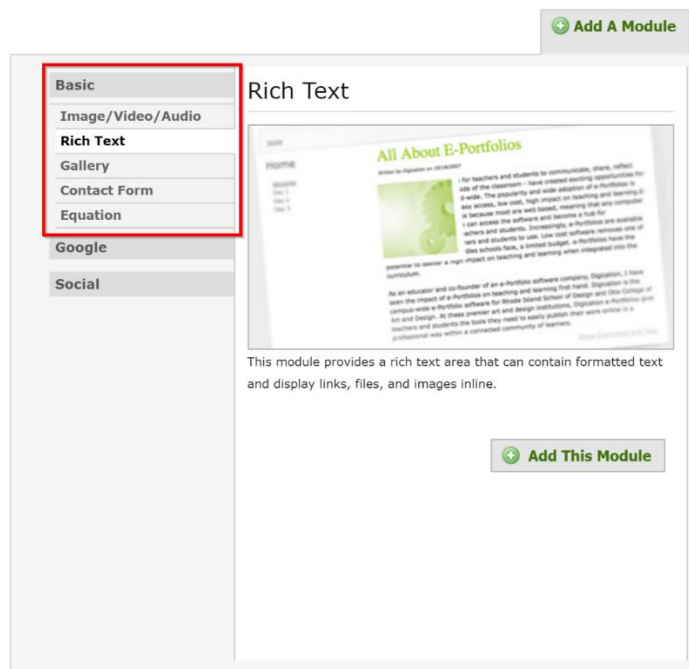

This document will show you how to add Modules in the Digication e-Portfolio Tool. Modules allow you to add content to your pages within the e-Portfolio.

Types of Modules

There are three main types of Modules in Digication

1. The 'Basic' Module includes:

- Image/Video/Audio: directly upload your media to the e-Portfolio
- Rich Text: basic text box
- Gallery: Upload multiple pictures to a gallery type box
- Contact Form: give viewers a chance to contact you
- Equation: enter in mathematical formulas

3. The 'Social' Module

includes:

- Twitter: you can add a feed of your Twitter account (Note: when adding, exclude the @ from your username)
- Bookmarks: enable this Module to send a link to your e-Portfolio on social media sites
- Creative Commons License: you can add a Creative Commons License to your site. For more information about this, click here.
- Credly: You can link your Credly account to your e-Portfolio. For more information about this, click here.

Adding a Module to the Page

It is simple to add a Module to the page.

1. Click the 'Add a Module' link.
2. Select the type of Module you would like to add.
3. Click the 'Add this Module' link below the description.

The screenshot shows the 'Add A Module' interface. At the top right is a green button labeled 'Add A Module'. A yellow box with the text 'Click here first' has a red arrow pointing to this button. On the left is a vertical menu with categories: Basic, Image/Video/Audio, Rich Text, Gallery, Contact Form, Equation, Google, and Social. A yellow box with the text 'Click on what type of module you want to add' has a red arrow pointing to the 'Rich Text' option. Below the menu is a preview of a 'Rich Text' module. The preview shows a sample article titled 'All About E-Portfolios' with a green header and a small image. A yellow box with the text 'Notice a basic description is given' has a red arrow pointing to the text below the preview: 'This module provides a rich text area that can contain formatted text and display links, files, and images inline.' At the bottom right of the preview is a green button labeled 'Add This Module'. A yellow box with the text 'Finally, click here to add the module to your page' has a red arrow pointing to this button.
